Early strength type concrete admixture PCE liquid

Introduction

Early strength type concrete admixture PCE liquid is an Eco-friendly new generation high performance polycarboxylate ether superplasticizer, used in concrete and mortar, enhanced the initial strength.

Advantages/Characteristics:

1. Extremely high water reduction
2. High early strength development
3. Long durability
3. Safety: non-toxic, no radiation, non-inflammable, no corrosion for steel bar or aggregate, and no formaldehyde, or aromatic residues harmful for human.

Application

(1) It can be widely used in ordinary concrete and high performance concrete, especially having excellent performance in high performance concrete of early strength.

It can be applied in industrial and civil construction, pumping concrete construction in hydraulic project, port, traffic, municipal and railway. It can also be used for making special concretes, such as high strength, ultrahigh strength, high impermeability, early strength, self-leveling and steel fiber type.

Usage

1. Recommended dosage (by binding materials' weight) is 0.35%-0.65% (on the base of 50% solid content). The optimum dosage is according to the real project conditions and actual materials.
2. Compatibility test should be done in advance when used with other additives.
3. Precise measurement avoids repeat dosage, seep dosage and errors.
