Polycarboxylate plasticizer water reducing agent PCE

Polycarboxylate plasticizer water reducing agent PCE is a new type super plasticizer developed suitable for engineering projects under various weathers and primarily for using in hot climate area which have liquid and powder form.

Polycarboxylate plasticizer water reducing agent PCE is most effective high range water reducing in the market which the reducing rate can go up to 35-40%. Because of their Low chloride and alkali content, no corrosion to steel-bar, high stability & environmental friendly and nontoxic characters, they have been warm welcomed in high strength concrete for railway, haven, traffic, bridge and electric power., got good feedback from worldwide customers. It is excellent superplasticizer in premix of construction and cast-in-place concrete.

Properties

Improved water retention capability and open time

Improved wetting of substrate

Freeze/thaw resistance

Improved water repellent effect of mortars

Application

A, for the preparation of various levels of pumping concrete, long-distance transport of commercial concrete.

B, suitable for high-strength concrete, fluidized concrete, self-compacting, mass concrete,

C, high performance concrete, concrete structure of water.

Product storage:

Polycarboxylate plasticizer water reducing agent PCE should be stored in dry place, and the storage temperature not over 40°C, and avoid humidity. This product had better stuffed in its unopened original packaging. It is not known as a dangerous cargo according to transport
